OUR THEATRE.
We are perfectly willing to admit that previous to our entering the PRINCESS THEATRE,
it bore a rather unenviable character. It was described as a RESORT FOR DEADHEADS, and a
"Theatrical Morgue;"
and in fact had so many aliases similar to this, that the mere mention of the legitimate name of the Theatre was as repulsive as a bad conundrum.
And Why?
Will you kindly allow US TO EXPLAIN
the various reasons?
Firstly—
The supply of gas to the theatre was wretchedly bad, being sufficient only to throw a dull, yellow, flickering light through the place, which made people miserable immediately they entered.
Secondly—
THE THEATRE HAD UNFORTUNATELY been taken—and we state this deliberately—by several companies who, in profession, were pregnant with promises, and in practice utterly BARREN OF RESULTS.
Thirdly—
No good Company was procured when it once had a bad name to risk regaining, at a heavy expenditure, its original prestige.
But verily we know
Not what a day may bring forth. We engaged the Theatre, conscious of all its drawbacks, and what has been the result? New gaslpes have been laid down, and the gas is now pure and more brilliant than The Electric Light.
The Theatre has been entirely cleaned and renovated with relentless hands, the Stage has been fitted up with new and magnificent scenery a perfect Transformation has taken place, and now it is the prettiest and most comfortable Place of Amusement in Australia.
And
As a fitting accompaniment to this change we place on the Stage
Absolutely
THE BEST COMPANY
that has ever visited Australia.
We shall endeavour to prove this in a future advertisement.
The Theatre is crowded every night, and we advise intending patrons to arrive early.
Free buses run from the intersection of Market and Elizabeth streets every evening between 7 and 8 o'clock, direct to the Theatre. The public are cordially invited to take advantage of them.

ALL OUR Nice

PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30.

The PRESIDENT took the chair at half-past 4 o'clock.

PRINTING REPORT.

Mr. PIDDINGTON brought up Report No. 11 of the Printing Committee.

It was ordered that the document be printed.

QUESTIONS.

Mr. MACKELLAR, in reply to Mr. Piddington, said in one sense the intention of the Government to introduce a measure authorising the granting of public money to members of Parliament as a reward for patriotic service.

BUST OF THE RIGHT HONORABLE W. B. DALLEY.

Mr. MACKELLAR moved,—"That this House has much pleasure in accepting the marble bust of the Honorable William Bede Dalley, Q.C., executed by Signor Sparzotti, and presented to this House by the members thereof, and requests that the President will direct that an appropriate place be assigned to it on the walls of the Legislative Council Chamber." He explained that the movement towards obtaining the bust had been most successful, and that the artist had been fortunate in securing a good likeness of the right hon. gentleman.

Mr. PIDDINGTON supported the motion. He thought Mr. Dalley had earned the distinction the House proposed to confer on him. He enlarged Mr. Dalley's public acts, and referred in flattering terms especially to the right hon. gentleman's action towards the federation of the colonies by forwarding a battalion of troops to assist in British arms in Egypt. He also congratulated the right hon. gentleman on the great distinction her Majesty the Queen had conferred upon him during the last few days by making him a member of her Privy Council. It was distinction of which the colony as well as the right hon gentleman might justly feel proud.

The motion was agreed to.

STAMP DUTIES BILL.

On the motion of Mr. MACKELLAR, the Stamp Duties Act Amendment Bill was read the third time, and was returned to the Assembly.

TEMPORARY SUPPLY BILL.

Mr. MACKELLAR moved the second reading of the Temporary Supply Bill. He explained that it provided for an expenditure of £8 0,000 on account of the Civil Service, for the sum of £100,000 for the Railways and the Harbors Department for water supply (in anticipation of a loan next year), and for the telegraph construction.

The motion was agreed to, and the House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill in detail.

The clauses preceding the schedule were agreed to.

On the schedule being submitted to the Committee,

Mr. DARLEY asked whether the telegraphic friends were now being erected in George-street was included in the sum of £40,000 provided for electric telegraph construction. He believed that in regard to the erection of the fence work, the Government were going to great expense, and were acting upon a wrong principle. In all cases the telegraphic wires were to be erected underground. It was very dangerous to have a large mass of wires overhead. There was no reason why that objection to the fence work, built by its use the beauty of private buildings of a public nature was destroyed. He alluded particularly to the Australian Joint Stock Bank at the corner of King and Hunter streets. The Protestant front of the General Post Office had been destroyed by those horrible carvings, and now they were about to operate upon a wrong principle. In all cases the telegraph wires were to be erected underground.

Mr. MACKELLAR said that he believed the work mentioned by the hon. gentleman was included in the bill.

Mr. DANGAR saw no objection to the erection of the fence work. He was glad that uniformity in that matter was to be carried out.

The schedule was agreed to.

The bill was reported, without amendment, was read the third time, and was returned to the Legislative Assembly with the usual message.

DAIRIES SUPERVISION BILL.

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of the Dairies Supervision Bill.

Clause 5.—"The Act may be cited for all purposes as the Dairies Supervision Act, 1886," was read, before in the metropolitan police district on the passing thereof. Provided that the Governor shall, by proclamation, in the Gazette, have power from time to time to extend the provisions of this Act to any other portions of the colony described in such proclamation as principal such portions respectively as shall be therein described."

Mr. DARLEY moved the amendment of the clause by the insertion after the word "aforesaid" of the words "as defined in the schedule," and stated it was his intention at a later period of the evening to move the addition to the bill of a clause defining the boundaries of the metropolitan police district.

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause as amended was adopted.

Clause 7.—"Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained the local authorities charged with the administration of the Act shall be as follows:—1. Within the boundaries of the city of Sydney the Municipal Council of that city. 2. Within the limits of any other municipality or portion thereof the named thereof. 3. In any place where there shall be no municipality the police magistrate of the police district in which such place is situate. And in each case the limits within which any municipal council or police magistrate shall respectively have authority as aforesaid shall, unless otherwise expressed, be those of the city."

Mr. DARLEY feared that unless the Board of Health compelled municipalities to exercise the powers vested in them by the bill some of them would neglect to do what was required.

Mr. MACKELLAR explained that if municipalities neglected their duties the Board of Health would have the power to take any action they thought necessary.

A discussion ensued, during which special stress was laid upon the necessity for municipalities to take steps to destroy their places of resort of filth and open drains, at the latter of which it was stated cows were in the habit of drinking.

Mr. KING moved as an amendment that after the word "magistrate" in subsection 3 the following words be inserted,—"or Board of Health."

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause as amended is agreed to.

Clause 9, "Duties of local authorities," was agreed to.

Clause 4, "Power of local authorities," was verbally amended and agreed to.

Clauses 9, "Dairymen and others to apply for registration," 5, 6, "Unregistered persons forbidden to sell or supply milk," 7, "Infectious disease in dairy premises, &c., to be reported as medical officer," were agreed to.

Mr. DARLEY moved the insertion of the following as clause 8 of the bill. "Whenever it shall appear to a local authority, or be certified to them by two legally-qualified medical practitioners, that the spread of infectious disease is attributable, or may be reasonably suspected to be attributable, to any milk supplied by any dairyman or milk vendor, the local authority may require such dairyman or milk vendor to furnish forthwith upon demand a full and complete list of the names and addresses of all his customers, and to give such assistance to discover the residence of all or any of them as the authority making the inquiry may deem necessary; and every such dairyman or milk vendor shall, for the purposes of such inquiry only, be deemed to be within the district of the authority making the inquiry, whether he is actually resident within their district, or within some other proclaimed district, or outside any proclaimed district."

The clause was agreed to.

Clause 8 (in the bill), "Persons suffering from infectious diseases, or having been recently exposed to infection, not to take part in dairy operations."

Mr. DARLEY moved a verbal amendment which would have the effect of making the meaning of the clause good in some respects with that of preceding clauses of the bill.

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause as amended was adopted.

Clause 9, "Sale or supply of unwholesome milk forbidden;" 10, "Penalties, &c.;" 11, "Governor to declare what are infectious diseases;" "12, Recovery of penalties," were agreed to.

Clause 13, "Pleas in action."

Mr. DARLEY pointed out that the clause was unnecessary.

The clause was negatived.

Clauses 14, "Board of Health to have certain powers in all districts;" 15, "Power to issue regulations;" 16, "Interpretation," were agreed to.

Mr. DARLEY moved the addition to the bill of a schedule defining the boundaries of the Metropolitan Police District.

The amendment was adopted.

The bill was reported, with amendments, and the report was adopted.

PRICKLY-PEAR DESTRUCTION BILL.

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to further consider the Prickly Pear Destruction Bill.

Clause 3, "If prickly-pear shall be found growing upon any common or upon any lands vested by the Crown in trustees other than the council of any municipality, and the same shall not be effectually eradicated within three months after notice as aforesaid in the form of schedule B shall have been served upon the trustees of such common or land, or upon any one of them, or within such further period as the Minister may in any case allow; or if the trustees of such common or shall, within one month after the receipt of such notice, inform the Minister that they are unable to eradicate the prickly-pear thereon; or if there shall be no trustees of such common or land, then it shall be lawful for the Minister to cause such land to be offered for lease by auction or tender, and to let the same for any term not exceeding 10 years, upon condition that the lessee shall survey and eradicate such prickly-pear, and at such rent and subject to such other conditions or penalties as may be specified by regulations in that behalf, and any rent received for such lands shall be paid to the Consolidated Revenue, anything in the Commons Regulation Act to the contrary notwithstanding."

Mr. JACOB moved certain verbal amendments of the clause, which were agreed to.

Mr. KING moved the amendment of the clause so as to allow three months as the period within which the trustees of any common or any land may inform the Minister that they are unable to eradicate the prickly pear.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. WHITE moved the further amendment of the clause so as to provide that the Minister may let the land referred to in the latter part of the clause for any term not exceeding 21 years.

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause as amended was agreed to.

Clause 10, "Common leased from commonage rights."

Mr. JACOB moved a verbal amendment in the clause.

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause, as amended, was agreed to.

Clause 12, "Inspector may serve notice on owners to eradicate prickly pear."

Mr. JACOB moved a verbal amendment in the clause.

The amendment was agreed to, and the clause as amended was agreed to.

Clause 22, "Penalty for neglect to comply with notice."

Mr. KING moved the amendment of the latter part of the clause, so that it should read "and neglect to take such means to eradicate as aforesaid for a space of 28 days at any time after the date of each conviction, shall be deemed to be a fresh offence."

The amendment was agreed to.

Clause 23, "In addition to penalty, inspector may enter upon private land," was verbally amended and agreed to.

Clause 14, "power to withdraw a battalion of troops to assist in British arms in Egypt. He also congratulated the right hon. gentleman on the great distinction her Majesty the Queen had conferred upon him during the last few days by making him a member of her Privy Council. It was distinction of which the colony as well as the right hon gentleman might justly feel proud.

The motion was agreed to.

STAMP DUTIES BILL.

On the motion of Mr. MACKELLAR, the Stamp Duties Act Amendment Bill was read the third time, and was returned to the Assembly.

TEMPORARY SUPPLY BILL.

Mr. MACKELLAR moved the second reading of the Temporary Supply Bill. He explained that it provided for an expenditure of £8 0,000 on account of the Civil Service, for the sum of £100,000 for the Railways and the Harbors Department for water supply (in anticipation of a loan next year), and for the telegraph construction.

The motion was agreed to, and the House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill in detail.

EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN NEWS.

By the Union Steamship Company's s.s. Mariposa, which arrived yesterday afternoon, we have files of San Francisco papers to the 6th June. We make the following extracts:—

THE HOME RULE BILL.

New York, May 30.—Mr. O. W. Smalley's cable special from London of May 29 says:—When the meeting of Home-rule Liberals broke up on Thursday afternoon the impression was that Mr. Gladstone had carried his point, and secured a majority for the second readiut of his measure. The concessions there offered to the Liberal opponents of the present scheme went beyond expectation. Nothing, indeed, was offered to the Whigs or Mr. Chamberlain, who had meant to attend the meeting, but changed his mind on reading Mr. Gladstone's letter making attendance equivalent to a pledge for home rule, but a number of his followers were present. They, with the Gladstonians, made up the number to 210, less than two-thirds of the party. Mr. Gladstone, in one of his most adroit speeches, largely written, which he has ever delivered, announced his terms. He asked the Liberals to affirm by vote for second reading the establishment in Ireland of a legislative body for the conduct of Irish as distinguished from Imperial affairs. He promised, if he obtained a majority on second reading, that the bill would then be dropped. He offered as a further inducement to vote for a second reading to reconstruct clause 24, in order to enable the Irish to return to Westminster whatever Imperial questions or questions reserved by the bill for its Imperial Parliament should arise. Numerous Liberals who voted for a second reading of the Home Rule Bill would incur no obligation to support the Land Purchase Bill. Should second reading be carried on the understanding the House would not be asked to make further progress with the bill at this session. The session would be wound up and an amended bill introduced in the autumn. Beyond a doubt this amounts to a surrender of the measure. Convinced that there was no hope of carrying it through the House at this session, or in its present shape, Gladstone resolved to save what he could from the wreck.

London, May 31.—At a meeting of the Chamberlain party to-day 56 members of the House of Commons were present. Of these, 36 reached a vote against the second reading of the Home Rule Bill, 5 refused to pledge themselves, and three supported Gladstone's Irish measure. Chamberlain read a letter from John Bright, in which the writer vehemently condemned the bill, pledged himself to vote against it, and urged others to do likewise. It is thought that the letter will have great influence in inducing members not to abstain from voting on the measure. The decision of the meeting, it is believed, insures the defeat of the Government. Chamberlain, in the course of his speech, assured the waverers that the result of a general election would beat Gladstone candidates. Reports from every quarter, he said, indicated that the country was awakening to the fact that it was menaced with ruin. Several members of the Hartington section spoke at the meeting. They referred to the plans of the Liberal unionists to fight every Gladstone candidate. The news of the result of the Chamberlain meeting caused intense excitement in the lobby of the House of Commons. The Ministerialists admitted that defeat was inevitable, and there was a general rush of members to the telegraph office to send orders to their constituents agents to prepare for the immediate dissolution of Parliament.

London, June 1.—The debate on Home rule in the House of Commons was resumed this afternoon by Joseph Chamberlain. When he arose he was greeted with derisive cheers and howls from the Irish members. He denied the assertion made by Dwyer Gray, that he (Chamberlain) was the author of an article on the Irish question in the Fortnightly Review. Gray knew very well who the author was, and that the details of the article were supplied him from Irish sources. "I myself possess," said the speaker, "unanswerable and incontestable proof that eminent Nationalist leaders have approved the principle of national dismember." Here the Parnellites relieved loud howls and cried out, "Names, names," and the Conservatives and Whigs cheered Mr. Chamberlain. The denunciation and cheering quickly became an uproar, which lasted for several minutes. Chamberlain calmly folded his arms, and confidently waited for the tumult to subside, but refused to mention the names called for. On resuming, Chamberlain explained at great length who he deemed Gladstone's concessions inadequate. "Those who oppose the Home Rule measure," he said, "believe that it would prove most mischievous in effect upon Ireland, and postpone for a long time a satisfactory settlement of the Irish question." (Cries of "How?" "Question!") "There has been, in some Liberal quarters, a desire to minimise the importance of the division from the second reading of the bill. The members have been told that the bill is already dead." The speaker did not believe that Gladstone would accept the vote on the second reading on the understanding that it be received only as the approval of the abstract resolution that Ireland ought to have a Parliament of her own. Had the Government submitted a mere resolution affirming the principle of the legislative autonomy for Ireland, he (Chamberlain) could vote for it, because it would not be inconsistent either with the Creative Chamber, like the Grattan Parliament, or the establishment of the legislative council, such as the speaker suggested, which, are now, had received the support of the Nationalists. (Cries from the Parnellites for "Names, Names.") The Government's proposals, however, had a stronger meaning than that of a mere abstract resolution, in that it pledged the House to the support of the principle of the Home Rule Bill, upon which Gladstone said he would never depart. Concerning Irish representation at Westminster, those who agreed with the speaker did not wish to reduce Ireland to the condition of a self-governing colony, and the changes promised by Gladstone would not meet the views of those who maintained this position. Under the amended proposal of the Premier, the Irish members might be invited to take part in discussion on Army Bills and Imperial questions like those of Canada and Egyptian wars. Questions relative to such matters were constantly arising, and in order to take an effective part in their discussion and settlement, the Irish members would be required to be constantly present at Westminster. It would be impossible to make the House of Commons a fluctuating body, as it would be under Gladstone's proposals. It would be equally unwise to create an Irish Parliament on a sub-ordinate and not a co-ordinate body. (Cheers.) What they wanted was to prevent the Irish members from becoming omnipotent either at Westminster or Dublin. (Cheers and counter-cheers.) Alluding to the references during the debate to the case of Canada, Chamberlain contended it was a natural conclusion from what happened in Lower Canada after the reform of 1838 that reforms like those would have to be granted to Ireland if the bill were carried, and furthermore, concession after concession would have to be made to Ireland until there came an ultimate demand for separation. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Sexton followed. He said the speech which Mr. Chamberlain had just made would enable Ireland to discern between her true and false friends. Until now the honourable member had been fighting under cover. At last they had him in the open, and knew him as a deserter and an ally of the party seeking to give over the working classes of England to the champions of class privileges, and consign Ireland to a Government that advocated 20 years of coercion.

London, June 2.—A whip has been sent to the Government supporters marked "Most important and urgent," saying:—"Your attendance is most particularly and earnestly requested in the House of Commons Thursday, June 3, when the division on the second reading of the Home Rule Bill is confidently expected to take place."

London, June 2.—Although the Government has not yet announced that everything possible has been done to secure the passage of the Home Rule Bill, Gladstone has received numerous telegrams from Liberals in all parts of the country, assuring him that the voting on the second reading of the Home Rule Bill affirms only the principle of the establishment of an Irish legislative body to transact business concerning purely Irish as distinct from Imperial affairs. The Government consider and hold themselves free to accept any proposals which may be submitted to them previous to the autumn session consistent with the five main conditions which they consider essential to the solution of the question, including Irish representatives at Westminster to take part in the discussion and settlement of Imperial business. The Government are not only at liberty, but they are in duty bound, to consider any such amendments."

ULSTER PREPARATIONS.

New York, May 31.—The World's London cable special of May 30 says:—"I have received intimation showing that the movement in Ulster is attaining threatening dimensions. I have received information from members of Parliament and from persons actually connected with the movement, the accuracy of which cannot be questioned, and this Sunday midnight I have received intelligence which has threatening significance. I have discovered that the organisation of the army in Ulster has progressed to an extraordinary degree, and I have gathered the following startling particulars:—A manuscript document is in secret circulation among Orangemen in this city, the leading idea of which is the organisation of a Loyalist Protestant body of men pledged to resist by force any attempt to carry out Home Rule in Ireland by the Parnellite party. This scheme has developed enormously without anybody having the slightest suspicion. An army is already practically enrolled, and all the military details have been arranged with the greatest precision. A large number of distinguished noblemen and members of Parliament are secretly placing the officers of the army. Arms have already been procured, and arrangements have been made for securing cannon and horses. The Orange army of Ulster comprises two army corps, the first of which is styled the Army of Action and the second the Army of Reserve. The regiments are made up of sections. Each section represents two or more Orange lodges contiguous to each other, or in the same village, town, land, or parish. The strength of the Belfast section—Second Army, 38,470; Reserve Army, 29,000; not classed, 7100; total, 74,570. Each regiment has a distinctive name. Among the names of the officers are the Earl of Enniskillen, the Earl of Roses, Lord Rossmore, Lord Arthur Hill, the Earl of Caledon, Lord Massereene, the Earl of Erne, Colonel King Harman, Colonel Thomas Waring, Sir Henry Bruce, Colonel Stuart Knox, Lord Farnham, William Johnston, M.P., Major Saunderson, M.P., G. W. Beecham, M.P."

THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

Washington, June 1.—A special from Halifax says that the captain of a coaster just arrived reports that the British Lovelet has seized an American mackerel fisherman off Greysborough coast.

Washington, June 2.—Representative Boutelle introduced a resolution to-day from Secretary Bayard, in the form of a telegram to the Collector of Customs at Portland, directing that the vessels of the Dominion collectors of Customs threaten to seize American boats if they buy herring from fish weirs on the provincial shores to be used for canning in the United States. A large business of this kind has been carried on at Lamprey and at the vicinity, nearly all the fish being bought from provincial weirs. American business are afraid to continue the traffic, and a large number of people from which I had received everything. What was done inside this I have no recollection of. Liquor and consternation had possession of me, and I have only that my feelings were those of a stunned horror. I remember in my room that night, the same room in which the remains were found, and it would be a lie for me to say that I slept, for I did not. I was glad when morning came. What I did after leaving my room you know, for it all has been printed." He says he supposed the post-mortem, when the body was found, would disclose the nature of the operation, and cause of death. According to his own story the cutting of Pritlier's mouth, the insertion of the bullet, the blood found in the trunk, and all the other queer things connected with the tragedy, are to be attributed to his vague and fear-crazed condition after the fatality.

St. Louis, May 31.—Nothing new or sensational has developed in the trial of Miss Maxwell for the murder of Preller, during the forenoon session. The cross-examination of the witnesses was that given by J. F. McCullough, a detective, and Captain Lincoln, Chief of the Secret Service Bureau, Captain Harrington, Chief of the Detective Force and District Attorney Closs of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Maxwell, the mother of the accused. Captain Lincoln's testimony was to the effect that Preller had told him that he had been employed by Mrs. Maxwell to get rid of her daughter's child, and that he had done so by killing it. Mrs. Maxwell's testimony was to the effect that Preller had told her that he had killed the child, and that he had done so by choking it to death. Mrs. Maxwell's testimony was to the effect that Preller had told her that he had killed the child, and that he had done so by choking it to death. Mrs. Maxwell's testimony was to the effect that Preller had told her that he had killed the child, and that he had done so by choking it to death.

THE PRELLER MURDER TRIAL.

St. Louis, May 31.—The Post-Dispatch prints a statement made by H. M. Brooks, alias Maxwell, now on trial for the murder of C. Arthur Preller, which will constitute his only defence, and which will be urged by his attorneys in the trial. In a word he will confess to killing Preller by accident, while acting as his physician, and that being alarmed at the horror of what he had done, at the suspicion of known the fact of the death. He declares he his always wanted to tell the facts, and only refrained from doing so by advice of his attorneys. The following is Brooks' statement:—"Mr. Preller was suffering from diseases for which I had previously prescribed, mixing the medicines myself, from bottles in the cabinet from which I carried with me. But his ailment had reached a stage where it was necessary to administer chloroform as an operations. I had previously applied chloroform in order to produce a condition of narcotism. I explained the process to Preller, and I also told him I intended to do the same thing in his case. He was not only willing, but was very anxious for me to treat him in that manner." Brooks then tells of the purchase of chloroform, which was applied in the usual manner. Preller struggled in the chair, and finally his head fell forward. Brooks said nearly all of Preller's blood was in the head, and that he was dying. Imagine my horror when this fact dawned upon me. I was wild with terror and had presence of mind enough to cut his shirt and undershirt from the body, and getting a wet towel I laid him round the neck and shoulders for half an hour or more. I did not know what else I was ready to drop from exhaustion, and my efforts were not related until he had been dead for some time. All the clothes he had on at the time were the shirt and undershirt. He had stripped for the operation. What did I do when I saw my friend dead? What could I do? I didn't know what to do, except drink, and I drank freely. I drank everything I could get, wine, whisky, everything. What were my thoughts? I had no care. All I remember was that I drew on a pair of drawers, the first that fell into my hands, and put the body into my trunk. Then I left the house and walked about the city. I don't know how long. Then he entered the second stage, and here a terrible change took place in his face. He said

OUR PARIS LETTER.

PARIS, MAY 21.

The Republique Francaise publishes a long article under the heading "England and her Colonies." The line of argument taken by the writer throughout is one to which Australians cannot be indifferent. I will therefore translate it at some length:—"France and I believe other nations, have an interest in knowing who represents the Sovereign among our neighbours (the English), because it is with the Sovereign that our international relations are carried on. It is a matter of indifference to us where the Sovereign resides, but we need to know who speaks in that Sovereign's name. It is inconteatable that now even before the establishment of Home Rule in Ireland, foreigners have often found difficulty in discerning among the English the true sovereign, or rather the veritable representative of sovereignty. Can the present Cabinet, for example, pledge the word of Great Britain? Can it with the support of Parliament take decisions from which there is no appeal? Perhaps in principle it can do so, but in point of fact its power or that of Parliament of which it is a sort of executive committee, is strangely limited by other powers interested in theory, but in reality parallel and equal. It is known that negotiations are now taking place between England and France with reference to the Newfoundland fisheries. The question was settled six months since by a treaty, but owing to the refusal to ratify by both sides, the Government of M. James drew back. Why? Because the House of Commons found fault with the treaty? Not at all, but because the Parliament of Newfoundland disapproved of it. When a treaty is framed with the Marquis of Salisbury as the official representative of the Sovereign of the British Empire, who was in error? The pretended Sovereign was become eclipsed and we are now face to face with a Newfoundland Parliament, of whose existence we have never been officially informed. Here is another example. In 1878 France considered, very mistakenly, an arrangement with England one of the subject of New Hebrides. It was agreed that neither Power should annex this archipelago, which is a natural dependency of New Caledonia. That France was the loser by the arrangement must be obvious to all. This was so flagrantly the case that Sir Bray that negotiations were commenced on another basis, viz., that we should occupy the archipelago, and in exchange would allow the English perfect liberty to take and to carry on proselytising propagandism there. Moreover, being conciliatory in excess, we promised to send no more convicts or Malefactes to any part of the Pacific. I cannot understand how a British Ministry could have made such proposals as these; but it is difficult to perceive what an English Minister can find in them that is objectionable. Lord Rosebery must still consider that we are simply asses, but unfortunately, he is not a fool agent, he is not the organ of the sovereign, he cannot pledge the word of England. Consequently, he refused the concession to the Government and recorded for minute at Berlin, and there, with our eyes open, have signed their veto on the arrangement. There was another exception, but it has disappeared through the intervention of the Presbyterian Church. If the Presbyterian Church, as the antipodes of the Pope, is to have a mission in Tahiti, how can the United of St. James find this establishment very injurious and unwelcome. When a foreign Power makes a proposal, even if it does not like but at the same time does not care to accept the responsibility of rejecting it, it has only to 'communicate' the colonies and then say will a dispatch are. 'Non possumus.' It is simply, however, in those all pretence into the latest and circumstances all occupations of territory on the part of the very colonies were its complaint is declared by them. We have had an illustration of this lately in connection with the New Hebrides. When Lord Rosebery was led to Prince Bismarck to say that the Australians had money to spend. Yet, this is a very convenient explanation and one everything else that is opposite. In international affairs, as in relations many daily colonial relations after every not security. Without speaking of the famous white book, which cannot be said at present. The Home Rule debate will probably be the point of departure of this transformation, which in any case is inevitable, unless the British Empire is destined after a violent crisis to be broken in a hundred fragments." This article is a great t. Quinti.

Commenting upon Mr. Howard Vincent's recent statement in the House of Commons to the effect that France would show a want of international courtesy by despatching her criminals to the Pacific, the France says:—

"The English dare to speak of courtesy; they who take possession of whatever country that possess them without consulting anybody, who give no thought to the engagements they have entered into respecting Egypt, and who have just sent ammunitions into Zulu to create a massacre there in favour of England. French courtesy and cyalty are looked upon as naivete by our neighbours. Our diplomatists have the good qualities and the defects of the French aristocracy; they do not know how to negotiate as traders with men of business. We have not learnt to look upon our interests over the centre of gain in their totality, and to take advantage of opportunities which occur for bargaining, for which compensation or exchange for those asked of us. The English always give way when the question is not worth the risks of war. They would certainly not attack us for the sake of the New Hebrides if we decided upon occupying them."

The naval manœuvres at Toulon, carried out with the object of ascertaining whether a fleet of torpedo boats living in a port are capable of forcing a blockade established by an ironclad squadron, have furnished no very decisive result. Nevertheless, the experiments go to strengthen the arguments of those who maintain that torpedo boats will play a very important if not a leading part in the next great naval war.

The publicity and importance given by the press here, especially the monarchical papers, to the preparations for the marriage of the Princess Amalie, daughter of the Comte de Paris, with the heir-apparent of Portugal, have caused much uneasiness and irritation among republican politicians. The French people generally, whatever their political opinions may be, are certainly not displeased to find the marriage of a French princess regarded as an event of European interest, but those who hold office by virtue of their republican professions, or who aspire to do so, do not conceal their irritation at the obvious effect of these nuptials on the public mind. The subject has been seriously discussed in the Cabinet this week, and strong pressure has been put upon M. de Freycinet to induce him to prepare a decree for the expulsion of members from the French soil. It has been pointed out to him that if he does not now take the initiative in this matter, the Chamber will do so. It may be remembered that on the occasion of the last debate in the Chamber on this question, in expelling the Princes, M. de Freycinet promised the Assembly that whenever he felt that their presence in the country constituted a danger to the Republic, he would not hesitate to prepare and present to M. Grévy for signature a decree expelling them from French soil. Does M. de Freycinet believe that the occasion has now arrived for taking this step? There is reason to believe that he is allowing himself to be persuaded that the time has come or is at hand. At any rate, a Cabinet Council will be held to-morrow for the purpose of considering the subject again, and coming to some resolution upon it. The prevailing opinion at the present moment is, that should expulsion be decided upon, the decree will only affect the Comte de Paris, Prince Napoleon and his son Prince Victor, each of whom comes under the designation of Pretender. The Republic could not give the world a more convincing proof of its weakness than by acknowledging that the presence of these persons in France constitutes a danger to it. By having recourse to the expedient of banishing political adversaries the Government would be using force very unconstitutional to which such Republicans as Louis Blanc and Emile de Girardin denounced in the strongest terms. The latter wrote in 1857:—

"Like death, banishment is a penalty. Any political assembly that first pronounces banishment, or any other penalty, ceases to be a political power and becomes a political one. The Legislative Chambers, which in 1830 voted for the expulsion of the elder branch of the Bourbons, acted, not as a legislative power, but as a revolutionary tribunal. The same observation applies to the Convention of 1848, which voted the banishment from France of the younger branch of the Bourbons."

General Boulanger, Minister of War, has laid before the Cabinet his Army Reorganisation Bill, upon which he has been engaged for some months past. Soon after he was presented with the portfolio of War, General Boulanger initiated the Government to withdraw either to be their Lisbon Parliament relating to military reclassification on the statement that he would bring in one comprehensive measure that would meet all requirements. This is the bill that has now been submitted to the Council of Ministers. General Boulanger proposes that the term of military service shall be three years, and that in theory he applicable to all. The new year's establishment, established for the benefit of young men enter up the learned profession, will consequently be abolished, but exemptions from service will nevertheless be granted in a proportion of 10 per cent, so that the higher studies may not be too seriously interfered with. Moreover, after two years' service the young men who have passed certain tests will be allowed to obtain military diplomas and return to civil life. Again, under certain conditions, to be hereafter made known young men between the ages of 17 and 21 can enrol themselves as volunteers for a year's service, and will receive their instruction gratuitously in regiments quartered in their native districts. Those only who are selected from among non-commissioned officers, and only sons of widows will be exempt, so long as there are other who are selected from the three years' service will have to pay a military tax of 80 francs (£3 4s.) per annum. The principal feature in the scheme is the proposed large increase in the effective strength of the army. At present the number of men who have been enrolled from a fairly near chance of service is 240,000 men, but under the new scheme this will be increased to 400,000. The number will be increased by the addition of 160,000 men who have hitherto escaped service, and by the natural increase of population throughout the country. The cadres will be increased from 12,000 officers to 16,000. The reserve will consist of 400,000 men, and the territorial battalions will be increased from 144 to 164. The total effective of the army will thus be raised from 500,000 men to 800,000. The estimated cost of the scheme is 100,000,000 francs (£4,000,000) per annum. The Ministry are not unanimous in favour of the scheme, and it is probable that it will be considerably modified before it is submitted to the Chambers.

The Budget for the year 1886 has been published. The following is a summary of the principal items:—

Ordinary Budget	£169,000,000
Extraordinary Budget	40,000,000
Special Budget	32,000,000
Total approximate rental	£241,000

The reason for levying the assessment on the principle proposed, from these householders who, doubtless, degree have a larger proportion of their stock on pasturage land relative to more than on leased land, arises out of the consideration that unless this simple arrangement was entered into, a higher rate per head of stock might fairly be imposed on those householders in the Eastern and Central divisions whose properties are convenient to the railways or easy to be embarked. The agreement should not be too heavy, but equal in its incidence. Those who hold no leased land, but keep their stock wholly on pastoral land, will, of course, pay an assessment. Each individual owner of sheep, cattle, or horses will be called upon to pay rateably according to the relative proportion between his purchased and leased lands. Under the operation of this principle of assessment the Government could make considerable concessions to the railways on the present basis of assessment for traffic, and these, with our rates, form, have placed their works on the arrangement. There was another exception, but it has disappeared through the intervention of the Presbyterian Church. If the Presbyterian Church, as the antipodes of the Pope, is to have a mission in Tahiti, how can the United of St. James find this establishment very injurious and unwelcome. When a foreign Power makes a proposal, even if it does not like but at the same time does not care to accept the responsibility of rejecting it, it has only to 'communicate' the colonies and then say will a dispatch are. THE LAND REVENUE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—I think the country can obtain a larger meed for the public legislature the estimate of £750,000, which appears on the "Works and Services" and my opinion has appeared in the Herald. The method I advocate for obtaining a sufficient revenue from the occupation land that proposed by the Land Act

And there is this consideration to be borne in mind: The Stamp Duties Bill does not stand alone. According to the scheme of the Government there will be a Land Tax Bill, an Income Tax Bill, and a Customs Duties Bill to follow. None of these bills can, under the letter of the constitution, become law without the advice as well as the consent of the Legislative Council. The Council cannot give real advice upon those bills except by dealing frankly with their principles and details; and it can only give advice that may differ from that of the Assembly by submitting it in the form of amendments for concurrence, or by withholding its consent to each or all of these bills as a whole. It is for the Government to consider at this stage whether it is wise to adopt a course that could not affect the rights or duties of the Council, but might seriously compromise the prospects of carrying these measures into law, even if they should pass after weeks of debate through perils threatening them in the Assembly.

When the question of payment of members was recently before the House, the main argument used in support of it was that the change proposed would procure a better representation of the people, by enabling men of the right stamp, who cannot now afford to sit in Parliament, to devote their time to the service of the country. The meaning of this was that the present Assembly does not properly represent the people, and that the men who now occupy its benches should speedily clear out, so that the principle of payment, operating at the next general election, might put another class of men in their places. But, strange to say, there was an imperative demand that the principle should come into force at once. The system that was to change the character of the House must be first applied in the interest of the House in such urgent need of change. Sir HENRY PARKES, when at Wingham, the other day, commented on the peculiarity of the situation, and pointed out that gentlemen who had been in the House for only six or seven months wanted to be paid at once. How is it possible that this demand, made under such circumstances, can be explained satisfactorily? Sir HENRY endeavoured to throw some light upon the matter. He said that he had spoken privately to some of these gentlemen who want to be paid at once, and put before them the alternative course of reserving the money for the next Assembly. "Oh! but we may never get elected again!" the says was their answer. It is not surprising that the publication of this story caused a stir in the camp, and cries in the Assembly yesterday for the names of the too candid reformers. The display of righteous indignation that such a charge should have been made was affecting. There was no disclosure of the name or names; but that does not dispose of the matter. What the public will want to know is not whether any member or members did or did not talk about the uncertainties of the next election, but what is the true explanation of the clamour for immediate payment on the part of men now sitting in the Assembly when payment of members is demanded as the means of introducing into Parliament a different set of men. It may at least be said that if the demand for immediate payment were dropped at once, and all agreed to delay the operation of the principle until after the return of another Assembly, charges of self-interest could not be brought against members of the present House who doubt or despair of their re-election. The righteous indignation should bring about a speedy abandonment of this remarkable demand.

In another column we publish the particulars of a serious railway accident which happened the day before yesterday on the main line in Tasmania. Hitherto the line has been free from accidents. This is somewhat remarkable, because it is well known that the line is one of the worst in Australasia, and was practically condemned before it was brought into operation. The loss of life is not great, but a number of persons have been injured. Amongst those are one or two Ministers of the Crown, and several civic dignitaries. The telegram states that the accident was caused through the train being taken too rapidly round one of the curves. The inference is that the speed on the occasion was much greater than usual, and the circumstances warrant the statement that such was the case. The train was an excursion one, and it had on board several Cabinet Ministers who were returning from an official ceremony in which they had taken part, in this colony trains which convey members of the Government when on duty are usually run considerably faster than the ordinary express trains; and it is probable that this practice is followed in the other colonies. It may transpire that the excessive speed at which the Tasmanian train was run, was due to the fact that there were Ministers on board, and that the driver was desirous of returning them to their homes as rapidly as possible. If this is the explanation of the unfortunate affair, the driver's desire to gratify what he believed was the wish of his superiors led him into an act of rashness which cost him his life. The lesson should not be lost on the managers of railways throughout the colonies. Travellers upon our railways have frequently noticed that some of the sharp curves are taken by the trains at the same speed that is run on the straight portions of the lines. This is a dangerous practice, and if it is persisted in it may be predicted with confidence that it will some day end in trouble. Recently we have had several railway accidents, nearly all of which have been caused by negligence; and these, together with the accident that has occurred in Tasmania, are warnings which should not be ignored. The public are naturally impatient of slow travelling on the railways, but they would prefer slow travelling with an assurance of safety to rapid travelling with the risk of accidents.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE Legislative Council disposed of all the business on the paper last night. It was resolved to accept a marble bust of the Right Hon. W. B. Dalley, presented by members of the Council, and to request the President to assign it a place within the walls of the Chamber. The Stamp Duties Act Amendment Bill and the Temporary Supply Bill were each read the third time. The Dairies Supervision Bill, the Prickly Pear Bill, the West Wallsend and Monk Wearmouth Railway Bill and the Uther Estate Bill were finally dealt with in committee.

THE debate on the second reading of the Customs Duties Bill was resumed last night by Dr. ROSE, who was followed by Messrs. Melville, Abigail, See and O'Connor. At about half-past 11 o'clock Mr. W. Clarke rose, when Sir Patrick Jennings reminded the House of the arrangement entered into on the previous night, that they were to go to a division not later than 10 o'clock. He had been willing to allow considerable latitude to hon. members, and in order not to delay the House, he was prepared to forego his right of reply. Sir Henry Parkes, while admitting that the arrangement referred to had been arrived at, stated that the time fixed had been encroached upon by members on the other side of the House, and as several members on the Opposition side still wished to speak it could not be expected that a division could have been taken at the time arranged. Mr. Clarke then addressed the House; and, after a few remarks from Mr. Hassall, the newly-elected member for the township, a division was taken at midnight, and the second reading of the bill was carried by 55 to 37, which gave the Government a greater majority than was anticipated. The announcement of the result was received with enthusiastic cheers from the Ministerial benches, and subdued clapping of hands by some occupants of the galleries. The House went into committee on the bill pro forma, and the Premier subsequently stated that it was his intention to proceed first this afternoon with the Stamp Duties Act Amendment Bill (No. 2). The House adjourned at a quarter-past 12 o'clock.

As was anticipated, the Assembly took prompt action last night, when the Stamp Duties Act Amendment Bill was returned from the Legislative Council containing the alterations made by that Chamber in the measure. The Speaker having announced the receipt of the message conveying the bill, said it seemed to him that such a course had been taken by the other Chamber as would render it necessary for the House to consider what action it would adopt in relation to it. The bill was distinctly a money bill, and whatever power might be claimed by the Upper Chamber with reference to the amendment of bills which were sent from that House, the Assembly in matters of taxation had, with few exceptions—and only such exceptions as might be said to prove the rule—insisted that it was for that House to deal alone with bills of such a character. He pointed out that in addition to minor amendments, a new clause had been inserted limiting the operation of the bill to three years, and two amendments equally serious had been made in the schedules, affecting in a very considerable degree the revenue derivable under the bill. These amendments were, he thought, such as hon. members could never have it in contemplation to entertain. Immediately upon this statement from the chair Sir Patrick Jennings moved that the bill be laid aside, and the motion was agreed to unanimously. Subsequently, the Premier gave notice that he would move to-day that so much of the standing orders be suspended as would preclude the passing of a fresh Stamp Duties Act Amendment Bill through all its stages in one day.

LAST night Mr. Heydon, as a matter of privilege, drew attention to what he considered very serious reflections made upon the character of a large number of members by Sir Henry Parkes recently at Wingham, in connection with the question of payment of members. He stated that Sir Henry Parkes in his speech condemned the proposal, and said that even if it was thought advisable to pay members of Parliament for their services it was an impropriety thing for certain members to rush to apply the system to the present Parliament. He (Sir Henry Parkes) added that when he presented this view of the case to some members, they replied, "Oh, but we may not be elected!" thus applying to themselves the principle "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." Mr. Heydon thought that the hon. member for St. Leonards ought to give the names of the gentlemen against whom such a charge had been levelled. Sir Henry Parkes, in reply, declined to give any names, and said that from what he had seen and heard he was perfectly justified in the words he had used. Perhaps it might have been better if he had not made the statement, and if he had wounded anyone's feelings he heartily apologised. The matter then dropped.

AMONG the notices of motion given last evening in the Assembly was one by the Minister for Public Works for to-day, to the effect that the House will on Tuesday next resolve itself into Committee of the Whole to consider the expediency of bringing in a bill to constitute the office of Minister for Railways; to make better provision for the construction, maintenance, and management of Government railways and tramways; and for the regulation of persons employed in the railway and tramway services; and for other purposes.

THE Minister for Mines stated last night that although the question of placing before Parliament a new Mining Bill had been under the consideration of the Government, it was unlikely in the present state of public business that the measure could be introduced this session.

AS far as can be ascertained, the Government are not likely to agree to the amendments made by the Legislative Council in the Stamp Duties Bill. A new bill is to be introduced this afternoon, and it will probably assume the form of the original measure when it left the Legislative Assembly.

A CIRCULAR, signed by five of the principal members of the Legislative Council, has been issued requesting members of the Council to meet at the Parliamentary Refreshment Room, at half-past 8 o'clock this afternoon, for the purpose of presenting the Right Hon. W. B. Dalley, P.C., Q.C., M.L.C., an address on the occasion of the acceptance of a marble bust of that gentleman, and its being assigned a place in the Council Chamber.

THE Union Company's steamship Mariposa arrived yesterday afternoon with the San Francisco mail. We give elsewhere interesting extracts from our files of San Francisco papers to the 5th June.

WE are informed that informations have been exhibited by the Commissioner for Railways against F. A. Wright, Edward Hinton, George Benamy, Henry H. Wilson, Benjamin Wonder, Francis A. Turner, Hartford Edward Webster, and James Stevenson, partners or employees in the firm of Wright, Heaton, and Co.; also John Parmeyer, Thomas Parmeyan, James Steers, James Masson, Daniel W. Lee, and Duncan M'Alister. The informations state that the Commissioner has grounds for believing that the abovenamed parties at various times, extending from 1880 to 1886, conspired to cheat and defraud the said Commissioner. The summonses are returnable for Thursday next. It is said that the alleged frauds extend over a period of eight years, and represent an amount of from £12,000 to £15,000.

THE Premier has received a cablegram from Sir Philip Cunliffe Owen, K.C.B., secretary to the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, stating that on the return of the funeral party from the grave of Sir Alexander Stuart the Prince of Wales expressed deep regret, on behalf of the Royal Commission, at the death of the Executive Commissioner for New South Wales.

THE Government have received a telegram from Mr. Downer, Premier of South Australia, asking them to co-operate in an effort to induce the Prince of Wales to visit the Australian colonies. The request will be considered by the Government at an early date.

THE Minister for Works has given instructions for the formation of a new department at the Redfern Railway Station. A clerk will be appointed to receive quantities of goods there less than a truckload, and when sufficient have accumulated they will be forwarded by truck. The extension upon trade rates will be charged, but it will not be more than sufficient to cover the expense of the new undertaking.

WITH reference to the earnings of the railway from Wallerawang to Mudgee from the 10th September, 1884, the date of the opening of the line for traffic, to the 31st December, 1885, Mr. Lyne stated last night, in reply to a question, that the gross amount received for passenger traffic was £17,522, and for goods traffic £76,096.

A SUPPLEMENT to the Government Gazette, published yesterday, contains a list of persons permitted to purchase, under the 2nd clause of the Lands Act Amendment Act of 1875, portions of improved land.

YESTERDAY morning Mr. Lumley (Mayor of Bedford) and Mr. Gough (Mayor of Darlington) waited on the Mayor of Sydney to draw attention to the fact that on both sides of Cleveland-street during rain the flood waters overflowed, on account of the roundness of the road, causing loss and a great deal of inconvenience to the residents. The deputation suggested that the road should be flattened, and a culvert used to carry the water across. They also pointed out that the sewer which ran across the road to Blackwattle Swamp was quite insufficient for the purpose. The Mayor, in reply, said he feared that on occasions of heavy rain the sewer would be insufficient to prevent floods, and the proposal was simply a temporary expedient. The City Council would, no doubt, bear its share of the expense, and he would instruct the City Surveyor to report on the subject, and, if the evil could be remedied, he assured them that it should be.

ALDERMAN BELLAMY and Mr. Cowley (council clerk) of Newtown, waited on the Mayor of Sydney yesterday morning to direct his attention to the state of the Cook's River road, which in rainy weather was almost impassable, and during dry weather the dust was intolerable. They suggested the extension of the salt-water mains, and the fixing of a stand-pipe; but at the same time they pointed out that about 10 or 12 loads of fresh water would be sufficient to keep down the dust. If this could not be allowed, the deputation asked for permission to use the salt water, and the borough would be willing to pay any reasonable sum for the accommodation. His Worship the Mayor, in reply, said that he could not give any fresh water for the purpose at present, but hoped that there would be an abundance at the beginning of the year to enable him to do away with the salt water altogether. He would, however, see what could be done in the matter, and obtain a report also as to the expense, not charging the borough more than the actual cost.

YESTERDAY morning Aldermen Beare and Withers introduced Messrs. Quinlan, Brown, and Hallam, as a deputation to the Mayor of Sydney, to complain of the disgraceful state of Barcom-avenue, off William-street, to Roshcutters' Bay. It was pointed out that the road, which went through to Oxford-street, had never been formed. The Mayor, in reply, said that the necessary funds had already been voted, and tenders would be called for the work without delay.

THE letter of our Paris correspondent, published to-day, gives prominence to the opinions of the French press on the relations of England and the colonies as illustrated by recent events in connection with the New Hebrides. Amongst the other subjects discussed is that of the expulsion of the Orleans princes, a step which was under discussion when our correspondent wrote.

THE Lithgow Relief Committee met at Wentworth-court; the Rev. S. Wilkinson in the chair. It was reported that £140 had been paid into bank since last meeting. Amongst these contributions are £2 13s. collected by little Carrie Lowell, of the Fernmount Public school; £5 per R. Hitchens, Prince of Wales Lodge of Masons, 1859, E.C.; Rev. G. M. Brown, collection Wingham, £6; Journeymen Farriers, £5; proceeds entertainment, Mitchell, £8 6s. 6d.; A. and I. Amos, £5 5s.; proceeds concert, Liverpool, per W. Bull, £11; proceeds concert, Orange, by W. Eastwick, £6 2s. It is hoped that the public will continue to send in contributions, as the committee wish to close the lists immediately sufficient is subscribed, and they will take the earliest opportunity of publicly announcing when the amount wanted is subscribed.

THE annual meeting of the Wentworth Club was held last evening at the club rooms, Bay-street, Glebe, Judge Windeyer presiding. An encouraging report was read by the hon. secretary, Mr. Herbert Rodgers, commencing with a tribute of respect to the memory of the late president, Sir G. Wigram Allen. The efforts of the committee to find larger and more suitable premises were related, and hopes were held out that before long the necessary building for the rapidly increasing membership would be found as hitherto, the restricted accommodation has prevented a great number of fresh members joining. The work of the Debating Society, spelling, arithmetic, and Sunday afternoon classes, were next gone into; also the lectures, entertainments, and singing practices. A circulating library has been established. A concert was given last December, assisted by Miss Pethy and friends. The handsome entertainment given by Lady Allan at Toxteth Park before her departure for England was warmly alluded to, and as a token of gratitude the club shortly afterwards presented her with a copy of the Revised Bible. The attendance during the past year has been well sustained, and the great good resulting from the establishment of this purely working man's club was plainly pointed out. A varied programme of songs and glees was gone through, the ladies and gentlemen of Mrs. Meadie's glee party having kindly volunteered to assist the members of the club. During an interlude Mrs. Munro presented several prizes for attendance, spelling, &c. At the termination votes of thanks were proposed and carried with applause.

THE committee of the Dairymen's Protective Society met at the Burrangong Hotel, Haymarket, last evening. There was a moderate attendance, and the president (Mr. Coward) occupied the chair. The principal business was the consideration of Dr. Macalister's bill for the regulation of dairies at present before Parliament. A general approval of the measure was expressed by the majority of the members, but no resolutions were arrived at.

ON Tuesday evening the members of the Woollahra Literary and Debating Society celebrated their 12th anniversary by giving a concert in the Oddfellows' Hall, Queen-street, Woollahra. The chair was taken by Mr. J. C. Neill, M.L.A., and there was a very good attendance. The several items on the excellently-arranged but lengthy programme were rendered in good style by some of the members of the society, assisted by their friends, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all who were present on the occasion.

THE Most Rev. the Primate opens a Village Fair in the vestibule of the Town Hall this afternoon, at 3 p.m. Owing to his many engagements, his Excellency the Governor was unable to perform the ceremony, but with Lady Carrington he has graciously extended his patronage to the fair. The undertaking is in the hands of a good committee, and they have been able to make every arrangement to meet the requirements of those who may visit the fair, and besides well-stocked stalls, where the public will receive every attention, they have been able to provide for those who patronise the fair a good programme of music each afternoon and evening. The fair commences each day from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. until Saturday. The proceeds are to be devoted to the Christ Church (Saint Lawrence) Organ Fund.

THE anniversary of the opening of the beautiful church of St. Paul, at Burwood, is to be celebrated in a manner befitting the occasion. Following an old custom, the festival will be kept for eight days. The church arrangements will be as follows:—To-day (the anniversary) there will be holy communion and a short address at 7 a.m.; morning service and communion at 11 a.m., when the Rev. Ernest Sock, A.K.C., will preach; and at 7.30 p.m. there will be full choral evensong and a sermon by the incumbent the Rev. A. R. Herlett, M.A. Tomorrow (this) evening service will be very attractive. St. Paul's choir is to have the valuable assistance of members of the Cathedral choir, the whole numbering over 60. The anthem will be "O, sing unto the Lord," by Boyce, and it concludes with the "Hallelujah Chorus." The commemoration services will be continued on Friday and Saturday mornings and evenings, and on Sunday morning the Primate will preach. In the evening there will be full choral service. Morning and evening services will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the "Octave" concluding on the latter evening with choral service and sermon by the Rev. C. F. Garnsey. Besides the clergy already named, the incumbent, Mr. Bartlett, will be assisted at some of the services by the Rev. H. J. Ross, A.K.C. In connection with the festivals there will be a conversazione on Tuesday evening and a concert on Wednesday evening in the School of Arts, full particulars of which, and also of the church services, have been advertised.

AT the invitation of Mr. T. B. Smith, M.L.A., a number of gentlemen visited the waterworks at Guildford and Prospect yesterday. The party consisted of Messrs. G. A. Lloyd, J. Sutherland, J. H. Young, N. Hall, H. Taylor, W. J. Foster, Lee, and Ives, M.L.A., the City Engineer, and others. After reaching Prospect, they were entertained at dinner at Mr. Smith's residence, and were then driven in buggies to Guildford and Prospect. At the first-named place they examined the aqueduct erected by Messrs. Hudson Brothers, and at Prospect they saw the large dam, at which there are 1,200 men and some 400 drays at work. A very pleasant and instructive day was spent, and town was reached at 8 o'clock in the evening.

FOR some days past a water colour painting of Ta Tarata, the white terraces at Lake Rotomahana, has been on exhibition in the shop window of Mr. W. H. Paling, George-street. It is by Mr. J. C. Hoyte, and has all the characteristics of that gentleman's style in purity of tone and colouring. The clear atmosphere of the New Zealand climate and the bright tints of water and foliage are most faithfully portrayed, the white pyramids-shaped terrace being an excellent foil to the dark masses of tree and shrub surrounding it. The group of hills beyond the stretch of water in the middle distance, half-hid by the blue haze so typical of Australian scenery, is admirably conveyed, whilst the luxuriancy of colour in the nearer shore line of rock and foliage is relieved by the uprising vapour from the hot springs. Altogether the picture will well repay inspection, it being an example of that minute care which this artist bestows upon his work, and—in this instance at least—without deterioration to his subject by loss of force.

THE Rev. Thomas V. Aikin, M.A., L.C.P., incumbent of St. Peter's, Campbelltown, has had published a "Floral Chart," which is intended for the guidance of beginners in the examination of flowers with a view to the results of their observation in schedules. The information given in the chart is most elementary, so few botanical terms as possible having been introduced. It is pointed out that when a student has examined a number of different flowers in the way directed he will have learned something of the differences of number and arrangement of the parts of flowers on which the classification of plants depends. He will then be prepared to follow up his observations by the examination of entire plants. The student is recommended by Mr. Aikin to use Sir F. Von Mueller's "Botanic Teachings," and the books and papers of the Rev. W. Woolls, Ph.D., F.L.S.

A CORRESPONDENT complains, writing with reference to an Insolvency Act in the Legislative Assembly, that the persons in the society to whom petitions against the ad valorem duties had been sent for signatures were under some fear or compulsion which made it necessary for them to obtain signatures, desires to state that those who sent copies of petitions to him had no claim whatever upon him, and that he has no doubt many others are in the same independent position.

"SPECTATOR," reading at Michalago, writes asking whether a goods shed is to be erected on the Cooma railway at Molonglo River. We are informed that the railway to the point named has not yet been officially opened, and that the traffic thence is carried on by means only of the contractors' rolling stock. The question of erecting a goods shed at Molonglo River will be taken into consideration in due course.

A CORRESPONDENT states that he wished to send a letter to Cape Town, and that upon inquiry he was informed that it would have to be sent to England before it could reach its destination. This is scarcely correct. We are informed that Cape of Good Hope correspondence is sent via Mauritius, by the Messageries Maritimes steamers every 28 days. The charges are 10d. per loz., and a letter is about 44 days on its journey. The next mail closes on July 16.

TWO curiosities of an unusual kind were brought to this office yesterday by Messrs. Tout and Robin, taxidermists, of William-street. One was a very fine living specimen of the diamond snake, and the other a perfectly tame flying fox. The snake, which was 8 feet in length and, in its thickest part, of fully 8 or 9 inches girth, was captured yesterday morning in the bush at Botany, not far from the tram terminus. The flying fox was caught in the Domain about eight months ago.

THOSE cyclists who are in the habit of leaving their bicycles in the public thoroughfares whilst they transact their business would do well to watch their vehicles a little more closely in future and take a caution from the following incident, which happened to Mr. Hagon, tailor, of Pitt-street, yesterday. This gentleman has been in the habit of riding into the city in the morning for some time past, and, as usual, he rode to his place of business yesterday. Dismounting from his machine, he placed it against the verandah post outside his premises, and then entered his establishment. Some time later he left the shop and proceeded to the spot where he had left his "silent steed," intending to take a spin thereon; but, ready to his chagrin, he discovered that the bicycle had been removed by some person or persons unknown to him. Up to a late hour last evening no trace of the missing machine had been discovered. Cyclists should take the hint and look well after their bicycles in future.

SOME surprise was occasioned yesterday by the granting of licenses by the Electoral Bench at the Central Police Court, consisting of Messrs Abbott, M.M., Fisher, D.S.M., and Macintosh, L.M., to applicants for the Tamara Hotel and the Telegraph Hotel, for which renewals were refused a few weeks ago, on account of the manner in which those houses were conducted, as shown by evidence brought forward by the police. The applicants yesterday were persons against whom the police could be no objection to urge, and assurances were given that in future the law shall be strictly carried out.

THE case in which four young men are charged with having committed a robbery in a jeweller's shop in William-street, was called on yesterday at the Water Police Court, but was adjourned by consent until to-day.

A SALOON passenger by the R.M.S. Mariposa, from San Francisco to Sydney, disappeared between the night of the 24th June and the morning of the 25th, and was not afterwards seen. His name was M. C. Hall, he was a surveyor by profession, and a native of the United States. At 10 p.m. on the 24th he was last seen standing near the rail, and as the vessel was battling with a strong westerly gale at the time, it is believed that he fell overboard.

YESTERDAY the dead body of a man named Elias Parell was discovered floating on the water at Smith's Wharf, Miller's Point. The corpse was recovered, and taken to the Circular Quay morgue. Deceased was 52 years of age, and a married man. He had been missing from his late residence, No. 1, Sail's-place, off Elizabeth-street, Strawberry Hills, since the 22nd ultimo. He had known how to get into the water, but it is stated that on the 22nd of last month he left his place of abode in order to go to his employment at the A. S. N. Company's Wharf. Dr. Ricker, who examined the remains, said that the deceased must have been in the water for five or six days. The Coroner has been informed, and an inquest will be held this afternoon at the Sailors Home.

ABOUT 9 a.m. yesterday the dead body of an old woman, named Margaret Byrnes, was found in a cask which stood in a yard in Sussex-street, occupied by Mr. George Stephenson, cooper. Information was forwarded to the police, who conveyed the body to the South Sydney morgue. Deceased was 75 years of age, and a native of the colony. She had been living with her son, Patrick Byrnes, at No. 288, Sussex-street. The remains were examined by Dr. Marsden, who said that the woman had probably been dead three days. The Coroner will hold an inquest on the body to-day.

IT is stated by the Melbourne Argus that the following officers of the Victorian Civil Service are amongst those who will retire at the end of the present year, on the ground that they have attained the age of 60 years:—Mr. H. H. Hayter, Government Statist; Baron Von Mueller, Government Botanist; Colonel Reid, Sheriff of Melbourne. Mr. John Barker, Clerk of the Legislative Council, will retire on June 30, 1887. Mr. Skene, Surveyor-General, and Mr. Symonds, Under-Treasurer, have passed the statutory age, and retire at once, voluntarily.

BY all appearance, the Garden Party Committee have spared no pains to render this year's celebration at Botany, on July 4, one of the greatest yet held. They have arranged with the Superintendent of Tramways to run the special saloon carriages to and from Botany. Lord and Lady Carrington will be present, also Sir Alfred Stephen, the Right Hon. W. B. Dalley, Sir Patrick Jennings, Hon. G. R. Dibbs, Hon. H. Copeland, the Worship the Mayor and Lady Mayoress, if possible. Baron Gilbert Parker, Esq., will read the Declaration of Independence; Hon. G. W. Griffin will preside, and will propose "The Health of her Majesty the Queen;" Lord Carrington, "The President of the United States;" the Right Hon. W. B. Dalley, "The Day we Celebrate."

THE following is the order of musical service at St. Andrew's Cathedral this afternoon:—Magnificat (Bunnett), in F, Nunc Dimittis (Bunnett), in F; anthem, Stainer's, "Hosannah in the Highest."

BANQUET TO COLONISTS AT THE MANSION HOUSE.

[REUTER'S TELEGRAM.]

LONDON, JUNE 30.

Last night many of the chief colonists now in London were entertained by the Lord Mayor at a banquet at the Mansion House. The Prince of Wales made a speech, in which he declared that the Colonial and Indian Exhibition marked an epoch in the history of the country, and showed the English people the real greatness of the British Empire. His Royal Highness declared that it would be the pride of his life if he in any way assisted in knitting together the sentiments of fellowship between Britain and the colonies. Sir F. Dillon Bell also spoke. He declared that the colonists were overcome by the reception accorded them, and by the sympathy which has been evinced by the mother country.

SERIOUS RAILWAY ACCIDENT IN TASMANIA.

AN EXCURSION TRAIN COMPLETELY WRECKED.

THE ENGINE-DRIVER KILLED.

MANY PASSENGERS INJURED.

MEMBERS OF THE MINISTRY INJURED.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

HOBART, WEDNESDAY.

The first serious accident on the main line of railway occurred last night to the excursion train, while returning from Fingal. The disaster was caused by the engine-driver taking the train at too great a speed round the curves. The special train conveying the Hobart visitors to and from the Fingal railway opening ran off the line on the return trip to Hobart at the King culvert, three miles beyond Brighton. The train is a complete wreck. The driver has been killed, and two railway workmen were seriously injured. Messrs. Dodds (Attorney-General), Burgess (Treasurer), and Dr. Agnew (the Premier) were injured. All the passengers were more or less hurt, some being seriously injured.

At 2.16 this morning the stationmaster at Hobart received the following telegram from Mr. C. H. Grant:—

"2.11 a.m.—Special left for Hobart at 2.7 a.m. Send to Hobart or police station for six stretchers, and have men ready to carry them. Send at once in a cab to Dr. Butler, Dr. Scharf, and Dr. Perkins, asking them to be at the station at once. Keep up fires."

"2.16 a.m.—If you have sent word to my house by telephone say I am all right and will be home in about an hour. C. H. GRANT."

Superintendent Hedberg immediately on receipt of the telegrams took steps to have the doctors, stretchers, and the necessary men in attendance on the arrival of the train. All the hospital staff held themselves in readiness to attend the sufferers, and ambulances and other necessary requisites were sent down to the station to await the arrival of the injured. At 2.45 a.m. Dr. Scharf was in attendance at the station, and he was shortly followed by the other doctors.

LIST OF THE KILLED AND INJURED.

The following is a complete list of those on the train at the time of the accident, and the particulars of their injuries:—

Hon. J. S. Dodds, who received a severe shaking, and was badly cut about the head, went to the hospital and got his wounds dressed by Dr. Perkins. He afterwards proceeded home, accompanied by several friends, and will probably be unable to attend to public business for some days.

Hon. W. H. Burgess was seriously hurt on one of his arms and his back and legs. He had to be carried from the railway carriage to the cab, which conveyed him to his residence at Battery Point. He seemed to be in great pain while being carried across the platform.

C. H. Grant, slightly scratched.

Alderman Hubblestone, injured shoulder, bruises about the body.

Alderman Crouch, injured collar-bone and hip; unable to move.

Alderman Harbottle, internal injuries and cut head. Remains in the hospital in a dangerous condition.

Dr. H. Wise, rib broken, scalded face, injuries to arm and back. Taken to his residence, where he remains in a critical state.

F. A. Packer, slight scratches and bruises.

W. Cundy, uninjured.

W. Bunn, Falmouth, internal injuries, rather severe; spitting blood; lying at the hospital.

J. M'Donald, Falmouth, dangerously injured internally, but the extent unknown.

A. Grieg, not hurt.

John Bradshaw, driver, killed.

Joseph Rogers, guard, slight injuries on face and back; left leg severed just above the ankle.

Alderman Bissell, unhurt.

Hon. Dr. Agnew, serious shaking, injury to head, and ribs broken. Was at hospital, and taken to his residence by Dr. Smart.

H. H. Gill, unhurt.

J. F. Beattie, uninjured.

Rev. J. W. Simmons, stunned from wound in head, which bled a good deal; otherwise seriously shaken.

C. J. Fox, Tasmanian Mail, splinter through ear and wound of temple, not serious.

F. J. Moore, Daily Telegraph, bruised on leg; will be practically disabled for some days.

George Edwards, Mercury, unhurt.

J. Johnson, Mercury, slightly scathed and shaken.

J. G. C. Davies, bruised about the ribs and back, not severely.

H. H. Nicholls, Mercury, severely shaken and bruised.

A. St. Barbe, uninjured.

H. Bryce, guard, uninjured.

Father Welsh, uninjured.

Alderman W. Bolton, injury to leg, requiring assistance to walk.

Alderman Annett, uninjured.

LATER PARTICULARS.

Joseph Rogers, the stoker, died at 1.30 to-day. His dying depositions were taken before his death. He blamed the driver as being responsible for the accident, by travelling too fast. All the injured passengers are recovering. Dr. Agnew is uninjured, beyond having received some contusions. Mr. Burgess, the Treasurer, was bruised and cut. Mr. H. H. Nicholls, editor of the Mercury, was severely bruised, and one of his ribs was broken. Alderman Harbottle had his ribs broken, and he sustained contusions. Mr. H. Wise is seriously hurt. He sustained a cut on the head, and his collar-bone and three ribs were broken. He also received contusions and scalds. The Rev. J. W. Simmons was cut and shaken. Alderman Crouch has a broken collar-bone. Several of the passengers in the train escaped with a few contusions.

An inquest on the bodies of Rogers and Bradshaw will be held to-morrow morning. Dryce, the guard, who was reported to be uninjured, is suffering from serious contusions about the back.

The disaster caused great excitement throughout the colony, and is the general topic of conversation.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, WEDNESDAY.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day, Mr. Pearson, in a speech on the formal motion, indicated the proposed amendments in the Education Act. The measure will be short, and does not affect the free, secular, and compulsory provisions of the existing Act. One of the most important changes will permit teachers to take an active part in religious services on Sundays in other schools than their own. The present Act forbids anything of the kind. The amended Act further proposes to alter the compulsory school ages, and to increase the number of compulsory attendances. Children under four years of age are not to be admitted. The max mum age is to be fixed at 13 instead of 15, and the attendance is to be 40 days per quarter instead of 30. It is estimated that there will be a saving of £15,000 a year to the department, and that the gain to the country by releasing children of the earlier age will be equal to £70,000 a year. It is calculated that 50,000 children of the school age do not attend so regularly as the law requires, and that six thousand are not educated at all. Hence greater power is to be taken to bring a greater number under the benefits of instruction. The inspectors of the department have power to examine in private schools, and also home-taught children. The bill proposes to establish industrial day schools to which children may be sent by a bench of magistrates, and educated at the cost of the State, but fed at the cost of their parents. Additional exhibitions are also provided. The question of land endowment for education will be dealt with in a separate measure, and the increase in teachers' salaries will be provided for in the Estimates. The bill was then introduced and read the first time. The Government intended to push the measure through committee a bill to indemnify shire councillors who have rendered themselves open to actions for having exceeded their powers in respect to municipal overdrafts. The Commissioner of Customs in response to the demands of the Opposition, said that the Government had no objection to produce the papers relative to the oil colonial frauds. Thereupon Mr. Bent gave notice of motion for the production of the papers. Mr. J. J. Madden and Mr. Shadforth introduced a bill to enfranchise the police. It also proposes for a penalty being inflicted upon any member of the force who shall influence votes at elections. In reply to Mr. Munro, Mr. Gillies stated that the subject of the representation of the colony at the Jubilee Exhibition in Adelaide was under the consideration of the Government, and he would submit a proposal to that effect.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, WEDNESDAY.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day, Dr. Cockburn, Minister of Education, gave notice of the introduction of a bill to examine the Chinese in connection with the discovered goldfields in the Northern Territory, being discussion took place on a motion of Mr. Catt, that returns be furnished showing the extent of the partition of land among landholders in the colony. It is understood that this is preliminary survey to a proposition being brought forward for a progressive land tax. A slight move occurred between Mr. Ward and the Premier. Mr. Ward, pursuant to notice, rose to call the attention of the House to the position of public affairs in the colony, particularly with reference to—1, the existing deficit; 2, the incidence of present taxation; 3, the bonded debt; 4, our assets and responsibilities; 5, our relations with the adjoining colonies; 6, the possibilities of our future. He intended to move resolutions relating to those matters. Mr. Bray and Mr. Downie raised objections, and declared that they could not be done under the standing orders. After a slightly heated discussion, during which Mr. Ward pleaded the urgency of the matter in the present crisis of the colony, Mr. Ward proposed the suspension of the standing orders to allow him to move,—"1. That it is desirable to make provision for the issue of Treasury notes, payable one year after date, bearing interest at the rate of 2½ per centum per annum; 2, that the completion of the Transcontinental Railway be adopted as a national policy, and that immediate steps be taken to examine the country between the Peake and Pine Creek, so as to enable a survey of the best route to connect those points being made, and the line to be gradually extended northwards from the Peake and southward from Pine Creek; 3, that, with a view of further encouraging settlement and the permanent occupation of the interior, forfeited or unleased country between the latitudes of the Peake and Pine Creek be offered upon lease for pastoral or agricultural purposes, the lease to be for a fixed term of 30 years, with the right of purchase at any time during the currency of the lease at a price not in any case less than 5s. per acre; 4, that a bill should be immediately introduced for an Act to authorise the Government to enter into a convention with any or all of the Australian colonies for the free interchange of the products and manufactures of such contracting colonies." The Premier objected to the motion, and he personally attacked Mr. Ward, whom he accused of pressing on the motion unreasonably to enable him to lay prominently in anticipation of the debate on the Treasurer's financial statement. Mr. Hawker appeared as a mediator, and suggested that under the circumstances it would not be well to press the motion. The leader of the day were about to be called. Mr. Ward withdrew his motion, but he protested strongly against the dictatorial and bullying tone of the Premier. Mr. Hammond resumed the reading of the Tramways Bill. The debate was adjourned. Mr. Harrington moved the appointment of a select committee to report upon the proposal to construct a railway from Port Augusta to Phillips Ponds. The debate was adjourned. The House rose at an early hour.

LARGE FIRE AT PORT ADELAIDE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ADELAIDE, WEDNESDAY.

Last evening a fire broke out in the bonded stores of R. Cleland and Son, Mudaren Wharf, Port Adelaide. The fire obtained such complete mastery of the premises which contained a large quantity of spirits, and burnt fiercely for three hours. When extinguished the whole premises were completely gutted. The adjoining warehouses were slightly injured by the fire and water, but no place had a marvellous escape from destruction. The total loss is not known accurately, but it is estimated at something like £15,000. The premises of Cleland and Son were insured for £2000, and the stock for £6300.

COLONIAL MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, WEDNESDAY.

The annual meeting of the Colonial Mutual Life Assurance Society was held at the offices, Collins-street West, this afternoon. The Hon. F. E. Beaver, M.L.C., occupied the chair. The report presented was of a very satisfactory character. It showed that during the financial year ending on the 31st March last, 3891 new policies for £1,161,030 had been completed, whereby the annual income had been increased by £34,839; that £50,182 had been paid in claims and bonus additions, and that the funds in hand amounted to £568,074.

Mr. J. F. Bruce said they had, as members of that society, much cause for thankfulness when they considered the result of its operations for the last financial year. The condition of the colonies had been less favourable than usual for all institutions of a provident character, and yet they had been able not only to hold their own, but also to show substantial progress for the year. One of the best elements of their prosperity was to be found in the fiduciative nature of their business, which more comprised branches in all the Australian colonies and in New Zealand and the Cape of Good Hope, and when they looked back at their past experience and the difficulties they had encountered, they could not but be hopeful for the future of their society. The Australias and New Zealand were all more or less suffering a recovery from severe seasons and low prices for their products, but happily a helpful change had come, in the benefits of which they must all participate, and which must beneficially affect every class in the colonies. The most delectable portion of their business was that which had related to the establishment of an office in London, upon which there was some little sum of opinion amongst their members, and which, he would admit, in view of the contentions which had arisen in connection with the contemplated opening of a similar office by the directors of the Australian Mutual Provident Society might have been first submitted for the opinion of their members, but he still thought the step was a wise one, and that their example would in the end be followed by

At the half-yearly general meeting of shareholders in the Broken Hill Proprietary Co. Limited, which was held at Melbourne yesterday afternoon, the report and balance-sheet were submitted for the six months ending 31st May. It was shown that the two Kevedale smelters, previously referred to, had been completed at a cost of £11,077, and the "Blowing-in" took place on May 6. It had been resolved to at once proceed with the erection of two additional furnaces, equal in capacity to the present ones. Mr. F. W. Ihlee would leave by the next outgoing San Francisco mail to purchase special plant, and secure the requisite skilled labour. A plentiful supply of water had been struck on the new main shafts. About 4000 tons of ore were at grass, averaging about 40oz. to the ton. Pending the completion of smelters, 1033 tons had been put through by the Barrier Reefers Association for 182,146oz. of silver, giving an average of 176oz. per ton. From the statement of accounts it appeared that on May 31 the company's bank overdraft had not been extinguished. The Barrier Ranges Association silver warrants held had not yet matured, and the balance required by the company's own smelters had not been drawn against. After providing for all outstanding accounts, paying for machines for general machinery, coke, &c., there remained on available balance of nearly £3000. The manager's report showed that since January 1 a total of 20,300 feet of driving and 936 feet of sinking had been done, making altogether 3549 feet, equalling about 18 cwt. bullion, 200 tons 15 cwt.; silver combined, 138,207 ozs.; lead combined, 230 tons 6 cwt. The average of silver per ton was 862oz.; the value of the latter was £551 6s. 8d., and lead, £1173 4s. The gross value of the bullion produced was £36,324 10s. 8d. The reports were adopted, and the retiring directors were re-elected.

Prospecting is being actively kept up on the Erimngo goldfield, South Australia. No washdirt has been yet performed on.

The hon. secretary of the Stock Exchange reports the receipt of the following telegram from the secretary No. 1, North Pioneer Gold Company, Gympie:—"1150 tons yielded 740oz. smelted gold. Dividend, 1s."

MANAGERS' REPORTS.

The output of the Wickham and Bullock Island Coal Company, Limited, for week ending June 26, is 1527 tons.

Tonkin & M. Company, June 26th.—In the lower level been cut all the ground out up to the fourteenth and timbered, and will start and open north on the lode with full area of timber. The water is getting stronger as more ground is opened. Shall drive west 40 to 50 feet, and then same on the south. All the work is proceeding satisfactorily.

Messrs. Grealy, Lukin, and Co. have the following advices by wire from the Hodgkinson Union G. M. Company, Limited, to-day:—"Cleaned up 212 tons stone for 116 ounces retorted gold."

Spider Crown Silver-mining Company, June 29.—Since last reports have been busy putting in crosscut to strike the hanging wall. Have driven through several veins of ore of very good quality. The drive is in 18 feet, and no wall yet. We are still pushing it ahead.

Victoria G. M. Company, Limited.—Week ending June 29. Main tunnel has been extended and timbered a further distance of 15 feet. The country passed through this week is harder than usual, and carries an increased quantity of mineral through it.

LITHGOW, WEDNESDAY.

The relations between the management of the Vale of Clwydd Colliery and their miners are decidedly strained, owing to notice having been given by the latter that the rules of the newly-formed Miners' Association are to come into operation to-morrow. The company repudiate the rules submitted to them. The miners hold a meeting to-night to consider the situation. Similar rules have also been adopted, applying to other collieries, in regard to which, however, less apprehension is felt than in the case of the Vale of Clwydd Colliery.

COMMERCIAL.

By the Mariposa, which arrived yesterday, we have San Francisco files to the 5th June. From the Daily Commercial News of that date we extract the following:—

"The past month has been one of gradual improvement in general trade based upon the agricultural prospects which were never better than this year. The acreage sown to wheat was a full one, and the yield per acre now promises to be above the average. Conservative parties claim a surplus for export will be gathered which will not fall short of 1,500,000 tons, and some place the total higher. May is usually the most critical period for the wheat, and this year it was a month of favorable weather. Harvesting has commenced in some sections, and danger from the elements is nearly if not quite over. Some barley is coming in freely, as the yield will be large. Wheat has declined during the month and closes dull and weak. Freights have felt the influence of the bright crop outlook, and have slowly but steadily improved, as the face of a quiet demand. Last rates paid were 42½ c. to Liverpool, 45c. to Queenstown, U.K., Havre or Antwerp for wheat. The short crop in Australia is causing some demand for tonnage to head that way. The Highland Light sailed May last, since which no further engagement was made until late week when the Scania Wall was chartered for 4[illegible] at 42½ c. The steamer sailing to-day carries about 900 tons wheat shipped by the New Zealand Land and Mercantile Company. A moderate demand for lumber keeps continues at steady rates. The season market is in a speculative feature. The sun on the Sacramento River is a positive failure, so the Sagus River is not possible to very light, and the California to date reports a short catch, while the unless future more than the best of the estimates and the yield will be very small to their terms. The last month on the last named river is the present and there is yet time for a good pick, although it will be difficult even with a large force to bring it up to a fair average. The last steamer brought about 4500 cases salmon, which is in sales, sold for 90c. to $1 for flats and $1.15@$1.20 per dozen here. Rumour has it that one sale of 7,000 cases occurred this week, but no particulars are obtainable at this writing. Canners are strong in their views as regards prices, and ask 1.12½@1.15 for flats on the spot, while the majority of brands are held considerably above this figure. Some conservative canners are not disposed to name a price at present. The market is reflected in the following quotations:—Hideaway, $1.05@1.10; Sun, $1.05; Quotations—Wheat: Milling, 1.30@ sellers to 1.37½ delivery, No. 1, white, 1.32½ dollars to 1.32 dollars; No. extra, 1.31½ dollars to 1.31½ dollars per centl. Flour: Best, 4.75 dollars; family, 4.50 dollars; superfine, 4.25 dollars to 4.50 dollars; superfine, 3.75 dollars to 3.90 dollars; extra, 4.00 dollars to 4.75 dollars; interior superfine, 3.50 dollars to 3.75 dollars per barrel. Hops: Export grades to no sal. at 9 to 11 cents per lb. Lumber: Cargo prices for common lumber are quoted as follows:—Redwood, 14.50 dollars; rustic, 21 to — dollars; surfaced and resaw stock, 1 x 10 and narrower, 24.00 dollars; 1 and 6 x 8, 24.50 dollars; extra clears, 1 x 6, 22.50 dollars; extra clears and beaded, 22.50 dollars per M feet. Shingles: Redwood, 2.75 dollars, extra, picked, 3.50 dollars; clears, 4.00 dollars; extra clears, 4.50 dollars per M. Coal: Cargo prices for pine coal by car or in bunker, 7.00 dollars per ton. Wool: Fine, 7 to 8 cents per lb.; fine medium, 9 to 10 cents; medium, 11 to 12 cents; coarse, 9 to 10 cents per lb. DO not miss this opportunity of the Australasian Trust Management Co.'s reduction's Herald, or send to the office, corner of King and Clarence streets, Sydney, for full particulars. A better investment than loan or mining, or even life assurance. Lend upon, buy or redeem your mail, money is a lottery with few prizes and many blanks; life assurance secures a big profit for your family if you die soon, if you don't it pays, at 65, 10 per cent. compound interest at your death. Trust companies yield large and fast-growing dividends, and as you own them, and exercise control, it is like money in your children. Experience shows that the dividends paid by well-established trust companies increase at the rate of 20 per cent. per annum: thus, £10 shares, paid in 1881, now receive £2 yearly, equivalent to £3.73 per cent. per annum. How can there be risk? Why, having an asset that can rise, a large proportion business on a liquid capital. Share list filling fast, and will close shortly. Trust Company, corner of King and Elizabeth streets.
